Los Angeles Defeats the Haverlys at Base-Ball, 12 to 5.

"Col. Beelzebub" Miller Done Up by Carlin—A Slugger Takes a Bath in Some of the City's Drinking Water, Etc., Etc.

For some time past a negro named William Branch has been at the County Hospital for medical treatment. Night before last he acted a little strangely, and the attendants tied him down with ropes. He was left in one of the wards and nothing more was thought of the matter until yesterday morning, when the attendants discovered that Branch had skipped out. How he broke the ropes which bound him is a mystery, but a close examination proved that the rope had been broken like a cobweb, and an inspection of the grounds failed to bring the runaway darky to light. The alarm was at once given at the police station, and several officers were sent out to look him up. Officer Reel found him wandering about the new depot frightening women and children. When the officer found him he was walking around in an unconcerned manner with no clothing on except a red flannel undershirt. Whenever he approached a crowd of women and children there was a stampede. The officer captured him without any trouble, and conducted him to the police station. Shortly after that he was taken before the Commissioners of Insanity, and after a short examination they adjudged him insane, and he will be taken to Stockton today.

BASE-BALL.

Los Angeles Knocks Out the Haverlys, 12 to 5.

The game yesterday at the Sixth-street Park, between the Haverlys and the Los Angeles, resulted in favor of the home club by a score of 12 to 5. Hapeman's pitching was too much for the champions, they securing but two hits off his delivery. Monroe gave him excellent support, as did the whole Los Angeles Club. McVey, the old-time champion, was a tower of strength to the home boys. His line hit for two bags was "a corker." Hapeman, Young and Lohman batted well, also. Lohman got in a home run. Donahue, and Sweeney and Lawton fielded very nicely for the Haverlys, but most of the hits of the home team were hit between the players. The same teams will play again today, and it is trusted that the boys will win again. Following is the score:

BEELZEBUB BEATEN.

"Col." Miller and a Little Man Indulge in Fisticuffs.

A lively scrimmage, in which some one might have been somewhat hurt, took place in front of Albee & Willard's real-estate office yesterday, about 2 o'clock p.m. A small, delicate-looking man came along the street, and putting his hand on the shoulder of a pompous-looking, red-faced man, well known about town as "Colonel" or "Beelzebub" Miller, began a conversation with him. In less than a minute it became a very warm one, the "lie" and "G——d d——d lie" passed, and the "Colonel" gave the little man a blow on the side of the head which brought a "bump" in short order. The little man let back, and in about two minutes the "Colonel" was ornamenting the sidewalk at full length with a slightly bruised faced. A crowd had gathered by this time and Maj. George E. Gard separated the combatants, and the little man walked off up the street while the "Colonel" went into the Brunswick to ascertain the extent of his injuries. The small fighter was named Carlin, a rancher from Cahuenga, and the fracas resulted over some disputed road. Bystanders said it was an amusing fray, as each man seemed fiercely eager to fight, but seemed very anxious not to get hurt. No arrests.

SAFE-CRACKERS

Make a Bold Attempt to Blow Up a Safe.

Another bold attempt at robbery was made yesterday morning at an early hour. Robinson's store, on the corner of Main and California streets, was entered by thieves. They succeeded in drilling two holes in the large safe, which sets in the back part of the store, and had their fuse ready for work, when some one, it is presumed, frightened them away. At any rate, they skipped out and left their traps on the floor. The safe contained quite a large sum of money and valuables, which the thieves narrowly escaped getting. They broke into the store through the back way, and must have gone to work on the safe at once, as nothing else was disturbed. This is the third or fourth attempt that has been made to blow safes up during the past few weeks, but the thieves have been frightened off in some unaccountable manner. The city is full of the rascals, and if the peace officers are not very careful, a big robbery will be committed before the crooks get tired of this city.

THE SAUNTERER.

I saw an exhibition of animal affection the other day that was pleasing. It was between a span of horses. The team was fastened beside the pavement, on Hill street, and attached to a carriage. Little bunches of grass had thrust themselves up along the coping and the horse standing next the sidewalk could reach down and feast upon them at his pleasure. The off horse could not reach the grass and consequently became a little restive. Evidently noticing this the other reached down and, seizing a generous mouthful of the succulent grass, he turned his head so that his companion could help himself from his mouth and thus obtain his share of the feast. I stood and watched them for some moments and saw them sharing alike, the one generously fed by the other who was in reach of the supply. That kind of horse sense is not to be despised.

There is a little band of small boys in the western part of the city that have recently been fired with military enthusiasm, and have organized a company for evening parade. A solitary drum is on duty, and, with a faint-voiced fife, supplies the music. The juvenile commander, a lad of nine or ten summers, gives his commands with Napoleonic dignity, and his troops keep step in their march along the street in a manner suggestive of a Waterloo or a Thermopylæ. Military display has a charm for young America ever since brother Jonathan was rocked in the cradle of Freedom.

The most interesting-looking places in the city are those where the front fence has been removed, and the green lawn stretches down to the pavement, with nothing to obstruct the view of it from the street. I should like to see the no-fence law put into execution as far as our front gardens are concerned. The hot and dusty summer streets are relieved by the border of green lawns, which add a charm to them that cannot well be described. The summer days seem cooler for these fresh oases by the wayside. They are restful to the eye and to the heart. Let us do away with the fences on the lines of our streets, and let the green lawns stand out unhidden. No matter if the house is not modern in design and finish, the grass plat will redeem it from ugliness, and make it pleasant to the eye of the passer-by.

There are Chinamen and there are Chinamen. I ran across an oblique-eyed, olive-faced son of the Celestial Empire the other day who, in consummate egotism, outdid the most self-conceited disciple of modern civilization that I ever met with.

"John," said I, "do you like to live in America?"

"No; Melican man know heapee notin. Chinaman know eblyting. He steal from Melican man slick. Melican man no catchee him. Melican man big fool. He no washee, no cookee, no notin; just heap lazy," and with a look of disgust at this summary of American ignorance, he departed, his pigtail swaying at his heels, and his loose garments soiled and dirty, notwithstanding the washee-washee talent of which he so complacently boasted.

"O wad some power the giftie gie us."

San Juan-by-the Sea—Proposals for a Hotel.

The Pacific Land Improvement Company have platted and will soon place upon the market this bewitching seaside resort. Its beauty is known to Californians as exceeding anything on this coast. A magnificent hotel-site on the bluff, 125 feet above the sea, has been set apart. This will be deeded to the company or individual who will enter into a contract to construct, within four months, a hotel to cost not less than $50,000. The most costly building will secure the prize.

Burbank.

Only fifteen minutes' ride by the Southern Pacific Railroad, and one hour's ride through a fine valley by carriage, commanding a fine view of Los Angeles, on the south, and a superb view of the entire San Fernando Valley on the north. We request investors to go there and see if this statement is exaggerated.

LAND FRAUDS.

ROSS & COTTON,
35 South Spring Street

Are locating many settlers and intending settlers, under the Public land laws, on fine, level GOVERNMENT LAND, with deep, rich soil, plenty of fuel and near railroad. With a Surveyor on the ground, we resurvey these lands and find the old Government Stakes. We make railroad excursion to these lands, taking provisions, tents, etc., stay over night, and Point Out the Corners. We have full, accurate maps, plats, etc., corrected from the United States Land Office Records the last day before starting. Our excursions do not return the same day of starting, for the reason that no man can show Government Stakes and pass over these lands in so short a time. We do not locate parties on land numbers covering lands many miles away from lands shown, but, in every instance, we guarantee the entries to be EXACTLY the same lands shown. Our next EXCURSION will leave THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1887, at 7 a.m.
All wishing to go must arrange with us by not later than Wednesday morning. We challenge the closest investigation and guarantee satisfaction.

FOR SALE—ONE OF THE BEST BARGAINS IN THE

BURTON MOUND.

A NOTED SPOT BY THE SEA AT SANTA BARBARA.

Its Attractions, Sunny Slopes, Charming Views and Mineral Waters—A Fine Place for a Seaside Caravansary—Its Destiny.

Southern California is already regarded as the Utopia of the home-seeker. From every section of the country men are turning their eyes in this direction, and the question of location is one of universal interest. Los Angeles, with its commercial vantage ground and its exceptional railroad facilities, has been regarded as a central point of interest, and foremost in desirability, as regards business importance, among the different localities of this southern country. But the building of the new line of railroad up the coast will bring into advancing prominence other equally desirable sections, and their rapid settlement will speedily follow as a natural result.

Foremost among the attractive points which the railroad will soon make desirably accessible is Santa Barbara, of Southern California. Built immediately upon the coast, her principal streets in one direction, running from the foothill spurs to the white sands of the beach; cradled in sunshine and in calm; environed upon one hand by majestic mountains, upon the other by the sea and the Channel Islands, whose uplifted fronts form an impassable barrier between her and the strong ocean winds; with a soil whose richness and fertility compare with the best; with agricultural and horticultural interests promising the largest development, and with a climate of acknowledged excellence—Santa Barbara has sufficient attractions to arrest the attention of the home-seeker, the capitalist, the man of business, no less than the pleasure-seeker and the invalid.

THE "ZENITH CITY"

With the

NEAR APPROACH OF THE RAILROAD,

and with the prospect of rapid means of transit being fully established in a few weeks, Santa Barbara is feeling the impetus of fresh activity in every direction. The advance in real estate has been rapid; business enterprise has increased; capital is making large investments; new and elegant homes and fine business blocks are being built, and extensive improvements projected on every hand. The railroad will find the city alive and ready to lay hold upon every opportunity for advancement that presents itself.

CARAVANSARIES.

In one respect Santa Barbara has evinced far-seeing wisdom. She has provided herself with as good hotel accommodations as can be found upon the coast. The fame of her Arlington and San Marcos has extended throughout the land.

But generous as her provisions have been for the traveling public, she finds that with her growing prosperity they are not sufficient, and she is already projecting a mammoth enterprise that will outrival the best that she has yet accomplished.

A SEASIDE HOTEL.

Situated at the foot of the long, gentle slope on which Santa Barbara is built, is the twenty-eight-acre tract called the "Seaside Hotel property," better known to older residents as "Burton Mound." This property has over 600 feet of ocean front, where the waves plash softly against the sands of the sloping beach, and beyond, the sea stretches out to meet the horizon's line, or wash in its rippling flow the purple base of the Channel Islands.

The summit of this "mound" is about thirty feet above tidewater, and has about 500 feet of level surface upon its top. It is approached on all sides by a gradual incline, covered with trees and vines and luxuriant grasses. The main avenue of approach is lined on either side by stately olive trees, whose silver foliage shimmers in the sunlight. Cool springs of soft water gush from beneath the turf, and iron and sulphur waters gurgle softly at the base, and pour their healing streams in the shadow of overhanging trees, in rippling lines of crystal toward the sea. Here, too, are orange and fig trees, and majestic growths of eucalypti and cypress, of willow and palm, with grapevines upon the sunny slope, and a wealth of flowers. This mound rises gradually above its immediate surroundings, and is sufficiently level on top to admit of large buildings, with cottages surrounding. While in the city, it seems in the country. It is but one tier of blocks from the business center and near the wharf, and runs down to tidewater, with a wide, smooth beach in front. No miasmatic swamps are near, and the air is as pure and sweet as the salty breath of the sea and the flower-laden fragrance of the land breeze can make it.

A CHANCE FOR CAPITALISTS.

In searching for a place to erect a large hotel for the accommodation of tourists and other guests, perhaps nowhere could one be found combining more attractions than the "Burton Mound" property at Santa Barbara, and the capitalist seeking for profitable investment who is wise enough to seize upon this property and build such a hotel as the growth of the city demands will not be long in discovering the wisdom of his investment in the quick returns which it will bring him, as well as in its advancing value. One advantage of this locality is that its temperature is warm in winter and cool in summer. The temperature of the ocean water varies but 8 degrees in the whole year. Ocean bathing is practiced by many throughout the year.

A GRAND HOTEL,

with shaded avenues leading to the beach, with numerous bath-houses at their terminus, would be the delight of the tourist and far exceed in attractions the charms of an eastern Newport. If upon the summit of this mound a mammoth hotel were planted, its grounds covering the pleasant slopes and wider levels, its surroundings would be those of Arcadian loveliness. It would hold in view the ocean, mountains, foothills, islands and the beautiful valleys of Carpinteria and Montecito. The old Mission, hoary with its century of years, is seen to the northwest of "the Mound's," sunny slopes, and the palatial home of an honored citizen rises like some grand castle of the Rhine on the high lands adjacent. Already bath-houses supplied with sulphur water have been erected, but these are merely temporary affairs. With the hotel will come ampler accommodations for with a steam engine for heating these, together with the ocean waters, for the benefit of invalids too delicate to bathe in them at their natural temperature.

Near the base of the mound are perennial springs, whose waters thread the lower levels to the sea. With this supply, fresh-water lakes might be formed—diminutive seas where children could have their miniature yachts and skiffs in water so pure and shallow that no danger would threaten. Light gondolas might serve their pleasure-loving elders, and the music of the boatman's song sound sweet as in the streets of Venice. There are no high banks along the shore over which little wanderers might fall; no lands drowned with ocean overflow; and no miasma with its deadly chill. All through the summer the ocean breezes blow cool and invigorating, while the mildness of the winter strengthens and relieves the delicate and overtaxed nerves of the invalid.

As soon as this hotel is assured, a yacht club-house will be built on a portion of the ocean front, and an iron wharf run out to required depth, and a half-score of yachts will be anchored in the quiet channel when not cleaving the smooth surface of its waters.

Few summer resorts can present more inducements to capital for investment than this. Comfort, health, pleasure and rare beauty of surroundings would all be combined to complete its attractions.

SANTA BARBARA HAS A FUTURE

before her great enough to encourage the expenditure necessary for the development of this property and to make it the pride of the coast. The writer would be glad to see this enterprise accomplished, for it would tend not only to Santa Barbara's advancement, but to that of other sections, indirectly at least. Los Angeles and Santa Barbara have both acquired claims of climate and varying attractions, and both settler that cannot be questioned. No longer is the story of our climatic excellence and our productive soil looked upon as a mythical exaggeration. Southern California is the watchword of the future for thousands weary of the bitter extremes of temperature found in less favored sections.

THE PROPHETIC EYE

of the railroad magnate has scanned closely the future of this section of the State, and, reading between the lines, he sees the necessity for multiplying the means of transportation, and increasing our facilities for travel. It will be a good while before hotel-building will be overdone, and the day is never coming to this coast when such enterprises as that projected by the Seaside Hotel Company of Santa Barbara will not be an advantageous factor in promoting our prosperity. As in ancient times the clear and attracted the wandering peoples of the north and east to seek its shores, and to plant there the seeds of a civilization that has been the glory and the marvel of succeeding ages, so this fair coast of Southern California is attracting to itself the best of the civilization of today, which is paving the way, not for kingdoms and thrones and battle heroes, but for the heroes of peace; for the conquests of thought, and the culmination upon these shores of all that is best, grandest and noblest in an empire of universal freedom.

SUNNY SKIES OF GREECE

CLIMATE HAS ITS INFLUENCE

upon race development. In a country where there is a constant struggle with the elements, and the earth yields grudgingly of her stores, a strong and sturdy civilization may be unfolded, but the estheticism and the poetry of life do not naturally have full play.

The Greece and the Italy of the Old World find their counterpart upon the Pacific shores of the New, and it is here that the best elements of modern advancement will flourish in the future. The tide of immigration that has already reached this coast is but the ripple of the advancing flow that will shortly surge in upon us.

With safety, then, we may multiply our pleasure resorts and expend large sums to beautify and adorn them.

GRAHAM, the cooper, who sailed through the Niagara whirlpool in a barrel, is going to try the same venture in a boat of his invention. He will keep on monkeying with that whirlpool till he loses his life.

THE Tribune, having discovered its inability to get the news, printed in place thereof yesterday a mining sensation. It is bodily rehashed from a better article in the Los Angeles Evening Republican of January 3, 1884.

SAN FRANCISCO is experimenting with an electric road, the motive attachment of which is underground, in an aperture between the tracks. Instead of the usual trolly there is a shuttle running in this channel which derives the electricity from underground wires and communicates it, by a running wire, to the dynamo on the dummy. A stretch of 150 feet of this road has been laid on Nineteenth street, between Treat avenue and Folsom streets, and works well.

THE prospects for a large hay crop are excellent in the vicinity of Lompoc, Santa Barbara county. It is estimated that three thousand tons will be stored in that section this summer. The Lompoc farmers have given much attention to the growing of English mustard. The probability now is that a vast amount of money will be realized from this crop, as extensive areas have been planted to it, and the yield promises to be very heavy. Nature is booming herself all through Southern California this year, and appears to be in full sympathy with the real-estate agent.

"SAN FRANCISCO is very fond of talking about sitting at the gate of the western sea and making the south and the west and the islands of the sea tributary to her," says the San Francisco Chronicle, "but while she is engaged in spouting poetry some other American city or some foreign nation slips in and gets the business, and the tribute to be paid vanishes into thin air." This is a very homely truth which it is gratifying to know San Francisco has at last found out apparently for herself. When we told her that a long time ago she wouldn't believe it.

IT seems to be accepted as a business certainty that the Marquis Del Campo, the owner or the line of steamers running between Spain and Vera Cruz, proposes to establish a line in opposition with Pacific Mail, both in the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts, bidding, by cheaper rates, for the trade between the United States and Mexico and Central America. Eight vessels are to be put on the Pacific, and beginning in September, weekly trips will be made. THE TIMES suggested when this [illegible] was first mentioned, now is the [illegible] to get in her application for her [illegible] the subject [illegible] Board of More Effectual Than Prohibition.

It will not take long to convince any careful observer of the signs of the times that general public sentiment is in favor of some practical legislation upon the liquor question. Thoughtful minds are revolving the question of how best to reach and suppress this gigantic evil. The question is a problematical one, and not easy of solution. Some of the most earnest friends of temperance object to the prohibition movement, especially when it comes in as an element to weaken the Republican party through the establishment of separate party lines and interests. High license has a tendency toward suppressing the evil of the traffic without causing its entire eradication. It is to the Republican party that the country must look for effective legislation for the control of this evil. Among the practical philanthropists of the East who have long considered this difficult problem is the Rev. Dr. N. Summerbell, a leading minister in the Christian denomination, and who, in a recent lecture, advanced some ideas that certainly commend themselves to the consideration of our law-makers, as well as to the public in general.

His proposition is to reach the drunkard through legislation directed against himself. Reasoning from the premises that the use of intoxicating drinks mentally incapacitates the drinker for the intelligent discharge of the various duties of life, he thinks the habitual, as the occasional, drunkard, should be treated by the law as an incapable, and dealt with as it would deal with an idiotic or an insane person. Or, in other words, there should be a law providing disabilities for them the same as for other insane people, or those mentally weak and irresponsible. The besotted drunkard is certainly no more capable of intelligent action than is the insane man. The occasional drunkard is liable to be called upon for the performance of some duty to himself or others when he is totally incapacitated for action, and when his only safety would be to have some one act for him, and the law has a right to take cognizance of his condition and protect him against himself, and protect his family and friends also against any wrong or injustice which he might commit.

The Doctor's proposition is that the drunkard is not to be trusted, his faculties being no more under his control than are those of the idiot or insane. Therefore, "the man who drinks to drunkenness should not be allowed to transfer property without the consent of a guardian or of the courts; should not be permitted to marry; if a physician, should not be permitted to collect fees for professional services; if employed by a corporation that fact should subject the corporation, to heavy penalties."

Many who do not consider the enormity of the evil of drunkenness, and who do not regard intemperance as a crime, will doubtless regard Dr. Summerbell's proposed method of dealing with it as extreme. They would direct the whole force of legislation towards the liquor-seller, who certainly is culpable enough and should not escape punishment. But the necessity exists for making drunkenness abhorrent in the eyes of the young. Let inebriety be looked upon as a crime, cutting the drunkard off from society, ostracising him from the circles where he delights to move, and which in his sober moments he may be fitted to adorn; making it impossible for him to obtain legal sanction to marriage; allowing the law to take charge of his property as it would that of an irresponsible person, and hold it in trust for his use—under these conditions would not a man hesitate long before giving himself up to this vice? Would not the man of ambition, capable of filling offices of trust and of honor, be deterred from cutting himself off from these by yielding to his love for the intoxicating cup? Old methods of legislation have proved inefficient. Why is not this one worthy of consideration? It would touch the very core of a man's sensibility and pride, and would not all the manhood within him rally to save itself from such dishonor and shame?

Our Atmosphere of Romance.

Almost every part of Southern California is rich in material for the pen of romance. There is enough in its history, in its rapid succession of changes, in the passing away of races, in the subdivision of its great ranchos, in the intermingling of old and new life, to fire the imagination and thrill the fancy of the writer.

In "Ramona" we have a living picture of early days in this vicinity, and the novelist has thrown a charm and beauty about the groves and vineyards of the quiet Camulos that cannot be dispelled. Even the dull, monotonous days of sheep-shearing are invested with pathetic interest. Hundreds of eastern tourists find their way to the spot where the scene is laid, and the loveliness of romance lingers still about the place. There are multitudes who come to Los Angeles, and make the home of "Ramona" the Mecca of their pilgrimage. That section of country will never have an advertisement written that will be of more value to it than that simple love tale of "Ramona" and "Alessandro." It will bring home-builders hither, and even staid and practical capital will open its eyes to inducements that it never would have discovered if the pages of that book had not been written.

We have material enough in Southern California to make it the classic ground of the future. There is enough to multiply the pages of romance indefinitely; to furnish themes for numerous "Iliads," and inspirations for coming Miltons and Dantes.

The vanishing of the native races, the coming of the fathers, the conquering march of the Spaniards, and the later occupancy by Americans afford as stirring and exciting scenes as the siege of Troy or the journey of Ulysses. We may yet have a modern Greece, nor less rich in material for legendary song.

Trying to Wake Up.

San Francisco is trying to shake herself and wake up. A mass meeting has been called for next Thursday, at which various public improvements are to be urged as a means of overcoming the all-prevalent lethargy. At a meeting of the Mechanics' Fair committee, which took the preliminary action, A. J. Bryant, who presided over the meeting, said there was great necessity for improvements in San Francisco; that the city proposed the calling of a mass meeting to urge upon the Supervisors to disregard the foolish pledges they had made last fall, and give this city good streets, paint the schoolhouses, which were a disgrace to the city, and improve the public parks.

Calling attention to the proposed mass meeting, the San Francisco Examiner says:

It is almost humiliating to record the fact that a mass meeting has been deemed necessary to arouse a public sentiment in favor of taking proper care of our city. Such a gathering was decided upon by a number of citizens who met yesterday to discuss the Mechanics' Fair programme.

We are fossilizing. An attempt to put our principal thoroughfare in decent order dies under the dusty attack of a lot of back-number villagers. Our beautiful park is running to dust and weeds for lack of funds to keep it in order. The trade winds sweep down to the city streets, not saturated with bracing ozone, as they might be, but laden with the dust of miles of unwatered streets and odors from uncleaned sewers. There is a dull, listless, wretched indifference in the community that, if not shocked out of existence soon, will make us a dry-rot wreck.

Los Angeles, with its 60,000 inhabitants, sets an example for San Francisco, with her 300,000 people. Los Angeles is pushing out in all directions and drawing in from all quarters, bringing the suburbs to it by electrical railroads; building miles of residences; paving, grading, improving. It is a city of live, energetic men, and the result is that its growth, prosperity and success are almost phenomenal.

It is difficult to regard the contrast offered with any patience. Something must be done to arouse our people. We hope the mass meeting of next week will be the beginning of the awakening.

As to Harbors.

The San Diego Sun likes to have fun with Ballona Harbor. Here is its latest:

There it goes again. Another vessel has gone to pieces in Ballona "Harbor," as will be seen in our telegraphic report. "The schooner Montezuma, loaded with lumber, outside the new wharf at Ballona Harbor, parted her anchors and drifted ashore, and the vessel is liable to prove a total loss," so the story reads. And this must have happened during almost a dead calm, for there are no reports of a storm anywhere on the coast. This being the case, it becomes proper to inquire what kind of a harbor have they got up there, anyway, that vessels should part their anchors right at the wharf and go to pieces on the shore? It appears to us that this wreck can only be accounted for on the theory that Ballona Harbor is built upon a steep incline plane, like a toboggan slide, and only such vessels as are well provided with brakes can safely approach it and avoid a collision with the rocky shore.

The Sun is calmly but firmly informed that no vessel "has gone to pieces in Ballona Harbor"; that the Montezuma, a flat-bottomed schooner, blew up the beach outside the harbor; that her cargo was removed and the schooner pulled off with no more serious damage than the breaking of her rudder. By the way, have they yet floated the little steamer City of Topeka, which went aground right in San Diego Harbor a fortnight ago?

It was a shrewd and practical plan suggested by Maj. Geo. E. Gard to raise funds for the forthcoming Grand Army excursion to St. Louis and to second the proposed efforts in connection therewith to attract attention to California. He thinks that the owners of the many new townsites on the market in Southern California can each afford to give a lot for the benefit of the scheme and, on a given day, these lots might be sold at auction and the proceeds covered into the excursion fund. Fathers of growing and prosperous towns might find it a good advertisement and, in the long run, a good investment. Maj. Gard attests the faith that is in him by offering to give a lot in Alosta.

SOME of the Mexican newspapers are again taking alarm at the threatened encroachment of Americans. They don't want people of so much enterprise and grasp. One ultra-patriotic journal predicts that the result of immigration is going to be "an increase in the number of stars in the hated American flag."

Its production in this city at the Grand will be exactly the same as has characterized its success in New York, Boston and London. Everything in regard to its cast, scenic and mechanical effects, as used in the above cities, will be seen here. Mr. William Gillette, the author, will arrive here about Thursday next, and will personally superintend all arrangements.

SMUGGLERS ESCAPE.

San Diego Excited Over a New Sensation.

How the Little Pacheco Captured the Illicit Sloop Lou.

And Lost Her Because There Was Too Much Aguadiente on Board.

The Sloop's Cargo Secured, but Capt. Porter Drives Off the Guard, Regains His Vessel and Sails Away—Americans Imprisoned as a Result.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN DIEGO, June 18.—[Special.] The Carlos Pacheco steamed in unexpectedly this morning at 6 o'clock, with one sensation and forty-eight passengers. Inspector Thomas N. Gilmore was summoned from his bed to her. The little teazer had been tugging away with the high seas since last Sunday. On that day a seizure of 1000 cigars was made on her, supposed to have been smuggled by the steward, Thomas Weller, and folks winked at one another and said, when she suddenly disappeared on Sunday evening, that it looked funny, and when it leaked out that at the request of the Mexican government she was to chase down the sloop Lou, one added, "It takes a thief to catch a thief." In her absence the town has been rife with rumors, Porter's friends standing to him, and cooler people saying that no connection existed between the seizure of the Pacheco and her sudden departure. This last has proved to be true, but the former was a genuine case of smuggling. When the Mexican Consul here, Valdespino, got on track of the Lou's pranks he informed the Ensenada authorities, who tried to detain the Pacheco for the service last Saturday, but Agent Bernstein, at Ensenada, refused to spare the Pacheco to them, saying it was not in the contract. On her arrival here Maj. Sisson, president of the International Company, ordered the Pacheco back, and back she went, through fogs and gales, standing on end at fifteen knots an hour. The bright little craft of 100 tons has a story to tell this morning. Touching at Ensenada to take on Mexican Officer Delgado and his assistant, she set out toward the mining camps of Santa Domingo, some hundred miles away.

THE LOU CAPTURED.

At dusk on Tuesday evening, when she came stealthily up to the little sloop lying asleep at anchor in Santo Domingo Bay, the crew were ashore and Porter and Mate Johnson were dead asleep in their bunks. On tip-toe, stealing below the deck, the Mexican officers with assistance from the Pacheco, shouldered pistols eighteen inches long, down the barrel of which Capt. Porter shot his opening eye as the cry went up "Surrender on your life." The two were gathered into the Pacheco, and the sloop was made fast in tow. Two sailors, an Englishman and an Irishman, who had left their vessel down the coast, and who were tramping their way hitherward, and who had been working for some three weeks in the camp, pulled to the Pacheco in a skiff and were taken aboard. The merchandise had been transferred with the exception of a few bags of corn for ballast. Four men, the wandering Irishman and Englishman, Second Mate Milton and Deckhand "Old Charley," of the Pacheco, were stationed on the Lou.

THE OFFICERS OUTWITTED.

When night fell on Wednesday a wild, nothwestern gale was blowing. The Mexican officers, so says Tom Weller, were full and in debt for the Pacheco whisky. The faithful little steamer was all pluck with Capt. Nelson at the wheel. It was 3 o'clock on Thursday morning when all the sleepers of the Pacheco were aroused by the four guards left on the Lou. All was excitement. Capt. Porter and his mate, Johnson, had crept aboard the Lou from the Pacheco, and had sent the quartette pulling for the steamer at point of pistol. They told their story. The Lou was gone, with Porter and the mate. In the midst of the gale gritty Capt. Nelson cried out: "Officers, shall we go back for them? It is not too late." The weather was thick as well as the officers who said: "No, let her roll to Ensenada." In vain were the citizens of aroused Ensenada looking for their prize when they caught the first curl of the Pacheco's smoke yesterday morning.

THE GUARD SENT TO JAIL.

"We will have our prisoners at all events," said Delgado, and off walked Mate Milton and "Old Charley," American born, and the Irishman and the Englishman, from the camp. They were escorted to jail under military guard, and the steward, Tom Weller, saw them disappearing behind the bars as the Pacheco started out last night.

"How did the Lou's people take their capture?" asked THE TIMES man of Tom Weller, the steward.

"Dead asleep," said he, "but Porter said if he had been awake there would have been blood and one death before any were taken. They would never have taken him alive."

"Did you say the officers were drunk?"

"Yes, drunk as lords. That fellow Delgado had run up a big bill at the bar."

"What is the character of the Santo Domingo camp?"

"Good place to keep away from," said Tom Weller. "About fifty men are living there, working in a coal mine, and they are actually starving; have to eat the corn put aside for the hogs since this last merchandise was taken. Why if I had a sloop full of flour to take them now, I could get $50 a barrel from them for it."

"Have they so much money?"

"Plenty of gold dust, you bet, but many a $500 cargo of merchandise will have to pay to the Mexican government about $1500 of duty."

A. M. Schiller, of the International Company, was seen.

"Do you think it was a smuggler, Mr. Schiller?"

"Undoubtedly, and a fine of $500 for being without papers, alone."

PORTER ALL RIGHT.

"When will Capt. Porter turn up?"

"Don't you fret about him. He's all right, and will be along here very soon now."

Sprigg & Carter, leading lawyers of the town, were seen. "According to the facts as stated," said Cassius Carter, excitedly, "the arrest of the four men was an outrage, especially of the two Americans, who could be taken under no circumstances unless they had committed a crime against the Mexican government on Mexican soil. It was no offense to pull away from a pistol as I can see. The matter should, and doubtless will, have telegraphic attention from Secretary Bayard, and through the American Consul at Ensenada the men should have good treatment."

The Moll matter, the wharf, the Australian scheme, the last seizure, the Clara Foltz sensation, and now the thrilling details of the Pacheco's cruise, have come as fast upon our people for cool recognition, and yet [illegible] fattest, and the brave little Pacheco lies at her wharf now, having earned her rest, and is the observed of all observers.

INTERVIEW WITH WELLER.

Tom Weller, the steward and smuggler of the Pacheco, from whose storeroom the Inspector seized 1000 Ensenada cigars last Sunday morning, came in with the steamer this morning and was promptly arrested.

"What luck?" said THE TIMES man to Weller, on the wharf.

"Luck! They arrested me three times in an hour. First the Sheriff, then Deputy Burton and Inspector Gilmore. I was carried before Commissioner Hubbard and bound over in the sum of $1000, with sureties G. Raffi and Charley Hardy, to appear next Tuesday; but the steamer will be delayed until Wednesday morning on her return, so I am just going up town to get the time postponed one day.

"Gilmore did his duty," continued Weller, "and I guess they will take us all up to Los Angeles before it is over."

"What made you go to the customshouse last Sunday and claim the cigars?"

"Why, weren't they in my storeroom? What was I to do?"

The trial will, no doubt, come up on Wednesday next, and will open up some fun.

The Clara Foltz excitement has quite subsided. C.

RAILWAY NEWS.

San Diego Excited by Some Important Projects—English Capitalists Afraid to Build a Road in Hawaii.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN DIEGO, June 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The California Southern people, it is stated, have decided to build their road to Ensenada. The company now have a party of men out examining the route, and a meeting will be held in Ensenada in a very few days to determine affairs in relation to this matter. Another party of prospectors are following out the line of th eold Tom Scott survey for a road below the line to connect with the Southern Pacific at Yuma, and thence to Ensenada. This road, the officials of the company declare, will soon be built, and as they have a subsidy—$1200 per mile for all roads they build—they will probably carry it through. It will secure them an entrance into San Diego and shorten their distance from New Orleans to the Pacific coast by over 200 miles, and will give them a line which can make quicker time across the continent than any of its rivals. At the same time it will run below the boundary line for a considerable distance and can therefore be operated without the restrictions of the Interstate Law. More definite developments are expected.

A SCHEME THAT CAPITAL FEARS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—A cablegram announcing a temporary suspension of efforts to effect a loan to build a railroad in the Hilo district in the Hawaiian Kingdom was today received from Samuel G. Wilder. It seems that $1,500,000 of English capital had been obtained to construct the railroad through a country renowned for its fertility and lasting productive capacity. Capital, however, is timid, and when news indicating discontent and the instability of the government was telegraphed it was deemed wise to withhold the bonds from the market. Wilder, of Honolulu, who is now in London to advance the railroad enterprise, was Premier of the Hawaiian Kingdom during the administration that was retired seven years ago.

PACIFIC COAST ROAD'S EXTENSION.

NIPOMO, June 18.—Several carloads of material for grading the extension of the Pacific Coast Railroad from Los Alamos to Santa Barbara passed through here today. A large number of workmen will go down on Monday and work will begin at once. The roadbed will be for a broad-gauge.

TO BE PUSHED FORWARD.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, June 18.—Chief Engineer Hood and Assistant Engineer Allen, of the Southern Pacific, have arrived here. Their coming is indicative of a renewal, within a few days, of work on the railroad extension from Templeton to San Luis Obispo. It is understood that 500 men will shortly arrive at the present terminus, and the road will renew the work of extending the line.

HUSBAND AND LOVER.

They Take Nine Shots at Each Other.

At 12 o'clock last night a man and woman were seen walking down Main street toward Fifth. As they neared the corner a man who had been walking in the same direction, on the opposite side of the street, rushed to the middle of the street and began to fire at the couple. The young man who was with the woman wheeled and drew his pistol at the same time. He remained standing in the spot he was in when the first shot was fired. The other man ran from the middle of the street to the opposite corner, firing at every jump. By this time nine shots had been fired, and the man who turned loose the first shot was running like a deer up Fifth street toward Spring. The woman broke away from her companion when the first shot was fired, but when she saw the other man tearing up Fifth street she retraced her steps and rejoined her companion. They talked for a second or two, when he lit out as fast as he could run for the business portion of town. When Officers Lemon and Hawthorn reached the scene of the shooting the shooters had disappeared, and an excited crowd stood on the corner talking about the row. On going up Fifth street on the tracks of the first shooter they found a hat and duster, which he had thrown off in his flight. The woman passed through the crowd and slowly walked down town. So far as could be learned, the only damage done was to a hack-driver's house, which stands opposite to where the couple were when the first shot was fired. A bullet from a pistol passed through the front door and buried itself in the wall.

It was learned subsequently that the couple had been walking about the streets in that neighborhood all evening, and it is supposed that the man who started the battle is the woman's husband. Those who saw the shooting are quite confident that her companion is a well-known young society blood. However that may be, it is certain that all the parties to the tragedy were well dressed and seemed to be people who move in the bon-ton society of Los Angeles. At a late hour the officers had not succeeded in finding either of the parties.

Fire Burns Over Goat Island—An Auction Sale of Garvanzo Town Lots Held in San Francisco with Flattering Results—Other Coast News.

By Telegraph to The Times.

BENSON (Ariz.), June 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The weather has been so warm for the past two days that the troops could make little progress in pursuing the Indians. A report from Wilcox last evening says that the Indians were seen in Sulphur Springs Valley last Wednesday, in the vicinity of Hooker's ranch, with the troops from Ft. Grant in pursuit. Teamsters hauling freight at San Carlos report that the Indians on the reservation are impudent and aggressive, and apparently anxious to leave the reservation.

THE SOUTHERN BOOM.

Auction Sale of Garvanzo Lots Held in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—[By the Associated Press.] An auction sale occurred in this city today of town lots of Garvanzo, the new town between Los Angeles and Pasadena. It was the first sale of Southern California property at public auction in this city. The catalogue included 178 lots. It was announced before the bidding began that a hotel would be erected at Garvanzo to cost a quarter of a million dollars. The terms of the sale were announced to be 10 per cent. at the fall of the hammer, one-third in one year, one-third in two years, interest on deferred payments 7 per cent. per annum. The first lot sold was at the corner of San Francisco and Selina streets. It was 42x147, and was sold to Lewis Brumotte for $350. Dr. Harris bought for $275 each of the next two lots, south of the corner on Selina. The next lot, of the same size, on Selina street, was sold to J. C. Schlemp for $245. The total sales of the day were $25,000. The lowest-priced lots were on Lewis street, one selling for $110, and the highest price was $350, for the lot at the corner of Selina and Julian streets, and the one other already mentioned.

SMALLPOX.

Discovery of Six New Cases in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The health officers found six Americans afflicted with smallpox in the vicinity of the Pacific Mail dock this morning. The contagion was spread by Chinamen released on habeas corpus from the steamship City of New York. The six cases are those of children, ranging from 2 years up to 6. In addition to these, the residents of the infested locality insist that there are two more known cases, one being a child and the other that of a grown woman, the mother of one of the sick children. The fact that the cases are all within a short distance of each other, not above a block from the dock of the Pacific Mail Company, and that the children have been in the habit of playing in the street with others in the same neighborhood, makes it more than probable that additional cases will be discovered within the next few days. In every case the disease exists in the families of those who, as longshoremen or in other capacities, have had business at the Mail dock during the time the Chinese were landed from the infested steamer Gaelic.

Fire on Goat Island.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Fire broke out on the southwestern portion of Goat Island, in San Francisco Bay, this afternoon, and gradually swept over nearly the entire island. It was feared that the flames would attack the outbuildings of the lighthouse and a fire steamer went to the scene, but no injury occurred. CHICAGO NOTES.

Boodlers McGarigle and McDonald Convicted—More Litigation Over the Defunct Wheat Corner—Sweltering Weather.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, June 18.—[By the Associated Press.] McGarigle and McDonald were found guilty this afternoon of plundering the people. The jury found that the defendants were guilty as charged in the indictment. The punishment of McDonald and McGarigle was fixed at three years each in the penitentiary. The defendants and their friends were dumbfounded when they heard the verdict. They had hoped for an acquittal, and were confident that if not acquitted, the worst would be a mistrial.

When Judge Shepperd resumed his seat on the bench in response to notice that the jury had agreed upon a verdict, only a couple of attorneys were present, the others never expecting a verdict so soon. Very few people were in the courtroom. When the verdict was read the defendants seemed for a moment stunned, but soon recovered their composure. A motion for a new trial was at once entered by the defense. Judge Shepperd said that he would hear arguments at some future time, and notwithstanding the protest of defendants' counsel, declined to admit either McDonald or McGarigle to bail. The decision of this point fell with crushing effect upon the defendants, their counsel and friends. The convicted men were taken to the County Jail.

PROSTRATED BY HEAT.

The sweltering citizens, however, are looking forward to the speedy arrival of a cool wave which is said to be approaching from the northwest.

A TROUPE'S TROUBLES.

Why the National Opera Company Failed Financially.

NEW YORK, June 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Mrs. Jeannette M. Thurber speaking today of the National Opera Company, said: "The second season of opera which terminated at Toronto, Canada, has been a success artistically, and would have been financially if the people in other cities who promised to raise a portion of the capital had carried out their intentions. After the scale of expenditures had been decided upon it could not be changed until the contracts expired. Of course, the enterprise ran behind and the company is poor now, but hopes before next season begins to pay all it owes and rally again with reduced expenses. The general patronage has been good and in another season, under better management, the enterprise cannot only be made self-sustaining, but can make money."

MURPHY WILL MARRY.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The Examiner's special from Pittsburgh says: "Francis Murphy, the temperance lecturer, it is announced today, is about to marry an heiress at Newcastle, Pa. He is now stopping there, and has succeeded in getting the consent of the father of the lady, Mr. Cunningham, the millionaire, to the marriage. The old gentleman was very much opposed to the match at first, but Murphy and his friends finally won him over. The lady, who has a fortune in her own right, is about 35 years of age. The death of Murphy's first wife, while he was in jail, at Portland, Me., for killing a man by throwing him down the steps of a saloon, which he then kept, was the cause of his conversion.

Another Southern Pacific Train Robbed.

The Outlaws Make a Clean Sweep of All the Valuables on Board.

The Express Messenger Beaten for Trying to Save the Treasure.

Many of the Passengers Treated with Great Brutality—A Mexican Officer Shows Fight, but Succumbs—The Robbers Evidently Old Hands at the Work.

By Telegraph to The Times.

GALVESTON (Tex.), June 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The east-bound California express, on the Southern Pacific road, was robbed early this morning, near Flatonia, about ninety-five miles east of San Antonio. As the train drew up to the station, two men with drawn revolvers mounted the engine, covered the engineer, and forced him to pull the train to the open prairie, where there were eight or ten men, armed with Winchester rifles. The two robbers on the engine stood guard over the man at the throttle, while the others went through the mail, express and passenger cars. Nearly all the passengers were asleep and unaware of what was going on until they were aroused by the robbers. All the passengers were relieved of their valuables, and it is difficult to form any estimate of the money and jewelry secured. It is estimated that about $5000 was taken from them. The express car and mail-pouches were also gone through. The amount of money taken is unknown, but it is now placed at $10,000. The whole country is aroused. Several posses have gone in search of the robbers.

THE EXPRESS MESSENGER ATTACKED.

FLATONIA (Tex.), June 18.—The Sheriff arrived this morning. He says there were twelve robbers in the party, and that when they entered the express car Messenger Frank Folger, seeing them coming, threw away the keys to his safe. This enraged the desperadoes, and two of them wreaked vengeance on him by beating him over the head with their revolvers, and cruelly splitting his ears with pocket-knives. The messenger was badly used up. The robbers recovered the keys and succeeded in opening the safe. How much money they found is a mere matter of conjecture, but it is stated that the safe contained $10,000. After going through the express and mail cars, the robbers turned their attention to the passengers, none of whom were overlooked or slighted. Even the newsboy was ROBBED OF HIS NICKELS.

One old gentleman, sleeping in his berth, was awakened, and, reaching under his pillow for his valuables, was struck senseless by a pistol in the hands of the robbers. The robbers then secured from under his pillow a well-filled purse.

The Sheriff says that while the robbers were going through the forward cars a colored porter extinguished all the lights in the sleeper, but it was useless, as when the robbers entered the sleeper they compelled the brakeman to go ahead with lanterns and stop at every berth. Col. Quintos, of the Mexican army, was among the passengers, accompanied by a young lieutenant. When he learned that the train was being robbed he called to the lieutenant to bring him his pistol quick and he would kill all the robbers. Mrs. White, the Sheriff's wife, who understands Spanish, immediately cried out to the Colonel, telling him if he valued his life to remain quiet and as the robbers had every advantage. A few moments afterward the robbers came along, with the brakemen before them carrying lanterns. One of the gang pulled a curtain back, exposing the Mexican officer to the gaze of "Capt. Dick," the leader of the gang, who was complacently sucking a huge stick of candy in his left hand, while the other hand covered the Mexican with a big six-shooter. When the bandit captain saw the Mexican he told him to disgorge, remarking by way of emphasis that he would as soon kill a greaser as eat his breakfast. The officer reluctantly handed over $400. Several drummers from New York and Galveston houses were in the sleeper and were all robbed, nearly every one receiving brutal treatment.

TRAIN-ROBBERS MAKE A CLEAN SWEEP.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Detective Hume, of the Wells, Fargo & Co. Detective Agency, received a dispatch from Flatonia, Tex., this morning confirming the fact that Southern Pacific train No. 19, eastbound, was stopped by a party and that Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure-box was robbed of about $7500. The desperadoes also rifled the United States mails and went through the train, compelling the passengers to give up their money and valuables.

Detective Thacker, who is in Arizona trying to apprehend the gang that robbed the Southern Pacific train at Papago, April 27th, has been ordered to Flatonia at once. "I shall leave for the scene tomorrow morning," said Hume. "They are getting pretty lively in Texas now, for the reason that they have good trains to work on and the best country on the continent in which to escape, owing to the sparseness of the population. There have been four trains robbed down in that direction since the 27th of April, when they made the clean-up at Papago. The second one was May 18th, eleven miles west of Ft. Worth, on the Texas Pacific Railroad. June 4th they robbed a train at McNeill's Station, on the Missouri Pacific, at which time it is estimated that they took between $20,000 and $50,000."

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S LAST DAYS.

BERLIN, June 18.—The Reichs Anzeiger says: "The progress of the Emperor toward recovery, as was to be expected under the circumstances, is slow but noticeable. His Majesty has latterly been able to leave his bed for several hours daily, and has frequently received verbal reports of State matters. Nevertheless he will require great care and rest in future." The language of this announcement, though guarded, suggests that the time has come when the Emperor must pass away forever from active public duties. Since his present illness set in thousands of persons have daily been in waiting before the palace in the hope that His Majesty might appear at the window to receive their homage, but he has not once been able to do so. He is lifted from his bed to a chair, and in going thence to hear reports, is supported into the cabinet. The official papers still talk of his going to Gastein in August, but all idea of his presence at the West Prussian manœuvers has been abandoned. His physicians forbid another indiscretion like his Kiel journey, and order that the Emperor henceforward undertake no duty that will involve any strain upon him or chance of exposure.

When the reading of the message was concluded the members separated, with three cheers for the Emperor.

THE BODYKE TROUBLES.

LONDON, June 18.—The agent of the O'Callaghan estates at Bodyke, which have been the scene of evictions, writes to the Times stating that almost all the tenants held under leases at the judicial rates made by the land courts. They paid rent regularly until the National League incited them to demand 30 per cent. reduction. Even then many tenants paid their full rents secretly and had their receipts back-dated prior to the League's mandate and some went so far as to implore that ejectments be served on them, although they had paid all, in order to avoid the League's vengeance.

DUBLIN, June 18.—Several tenants were arrested, at Bodyke, for resisting officers, and have been sentenced to prison, at hard labor, for terms ranging from one to three months. FAVORITES BEATEN.

Eurus Wins the Suburban Handicap.

Immense Gathering at the Great Event of the Season.

Ben Ali and Quito Left at the Post—Charges of Crooked Dealings.

Other Doings in the Sporting Arena—The Thistle Again Outsails the Irex—The Genesta Leading the Jubilee Yachts—The Base-Ball Field.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, June 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The starters in the Suburban handicap at Sheepshead Bay today were: Barnum, Hidalgo, Rataplan, Rupert, Ben Ali, Wickham, Grimaldi, Richmond, Quito, Linden, Housatonic, Pontico, Oriflamme, Tenbooker, Eurus, Biscuit, Pasha, Orlando, Greenfield and Bonnie Prince. The following were the pools: Richmond, $230; Quito, $170; Preakness' pair, $130; Haggin's pair, $110; Grimaldi, $60; Oriflamme, $40; field, $90. The track, quarter-stretch and field was a living mass of humanity when the race was called. The betting ring was so densely thronged that several booths were knocked down. Up to the last moment the plunge on Richmond was absolutely terrific. The field looked very pretty as they went to the post, but unfortunately the race resulted in a grand fiasco.

The horses got the flag at the second attempt, but a shout of dismay went up when it was seen that Ben Ali and Quito were left at the post. Eurus was first away, followed by Oriflamme, Richmond and Tenbooker as named. Eurus at once opened a gap of two lengths, and with Richmond second and Grimaldi third made the running. The others were strung out. Near the half Grimaldi got his neck in front and Richmond began to fall back. Eurus increased his lead the further, he went, and turning into the stretch was five lengths in advance, with Grimaldi second. At the stretch Oriflamme and Wickham moved up. They could not reach Eurus, however, who won in a canter by six lengths, Oriflamme second, a neck in front of Wickham, Grimaldi fourth. Time, 2:12. Mutuals paid $230, straight $75.

A magnificent floral horseshoe was presented to the winner. The value of the race to the winner is estimated at $10,000. Considering the heaviness of the course the time was very good for a mile and a quarter. At the very lowest estimate half a million dollars must have been bet on the track and over a million depended on the winner. The bookmakers had extra help and they could not take the money in fast enough. Richmond was a tremendous favorite. His trainer said before the race that he did not see how he could lose. Quito, however, had such a powerful following that he crowded Richmond close in the race. Grimaldi, who had a great reputation as a good performer in mud, was the pick of the track talent. Rupert was well supported and Haggin is said to have had $50,000 on Ben Ali.

There was a great hubbub over the fact that Quito and Ben Ali were left at the post. Haggin and Congressman Scott were so indignant that they said they would not start any more horses at Sheepshead Bay if Caldwell as starter was not removed. Then there were wild charges that Caldwell had been bribed by bookmakers, who stood to lose heavily on both horses to leave them, and that the executive committee would hold a meeting and rule him off for life. Caldwell protested that it was not done intentionally, and that leaving the horses was an accident. Garrison and McLaughlin, jockeys, said their horses would not move off, and this was probably the cause, as Ben Ali was left in the same manner early in the week. The executive committee will take no action.

The other events resulted as follows:

Five furlongs—Gleaner won, Bess second, Ichi Ban third. Time, 1:03¼.

Three-year-olds and upward, one and one-eighth miles—Berlin won, Argo second, Lottery third. Time 2:00.

Two-year-olds, five furlongs—Omaha won, Guarantee second, King Fish third. Time, 1:03.

Three-year-olds, seven furlongs—Hanover won, Kingston second, Firen third. Time, 1:32.

Hurdle race, one and one-quarter miles, on turf—Bassance won, Mammonist second, Harry Mann third. Time, 2:19¾.

A Specific for Croup.

Mr. J. J. LaGrange, a prominent druggist of Avoca, Neb., says: "I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a specific for Croup. It is very pleasant to take, which is one of the most important requisites where a cough remedy is intended for use among children. I have known of cases of spasmodic croup where I know the life of a little one was saved by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

Mr. C. H. Shawen, Wellsville, Kan., says: "It is with pleasure that I can speak of the good Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy has done in my family during the last thirteen years. In the most obstinate cases of summer complaint and diarrhœa among my children it acts as a charm, making it never necessary to call in a physician. I can truthfully say that it is my judgment, based on years of experience, that there is not a medicine in the market that is its equal as a family remedy, and that I will never keep house without a bottle of it in my possession." Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

A VERY LITTLE STORY OF HAPPENINGS.

A Nice Little Letter—The Dangers of the Plains—Coming Back from California—A Robber's Fate—Golden Fancies—Out of Doors.

A LITTLE MAID.

Adown the garden way there went
A little maid in glad content;
The butterflies with golden wings,
And all the world's sweet fragrant things,
The happy birds with throats of song,
Were with her all her steps along.

The lovely silver of the brook
She for her morning mirror took,
And bending low above the wave,
With its cool waters, she did lave
Her dimpled face, whose cheek and chin
Gleamed very fair the water in.

And there, like golden threads of light,
Shone her soft tresses to her sight;
The long, soft shining golden curls
Seemed swaying in the eddies' whirls,
As bending downward she did look
To see her picture in the brook.

The violets, dewy-eyed and fair,
Grew in their sweetness everywhere
Upon the mossy bank where she
Knelt in her childish ecstacy;
And buttercups with golden gleam
Podded their heads beside the stream.

From off her feet her shoes she took
To wade within the silver brook;
And down the pebbled way she went
In fullness of her glad content.
The ripples round her ankles flow,
And murmur music as they go.

Her little feet like lilies gleam
Within the crystal of the stream;
Her laughter mingles with the notes
Poured from a hundred feathered throats,
Which, like a tidal-wave of song,
From the high tree-tops sweeps along.

With laughter and with song she went,
A little blossom of content;
Her cheeks like rose-leaves softly red;
Like gleaming buttercups her head;
Like violets, just touched with dew,
'Neath lily lids, her eyes of blue.

ELIZA A. OTIS.

Things never "happened" to me as they do to some children. Everything seemed to come along in a quiet, orderly way, just as if it were meant that nothing should ever be any different. That was just what I did not like. Some wonderful happening was what I wanted, and I envied those whose lives appeared to be full of romance and change. There was Mehitable, a schoolmate of mine, who had a married sister, and her husband had gone to California to dig gold, and I expected he would come back with trunks and boxes full of it, and that Mehitable would have everything that she wanted. I thought that there would be nothing but what she would be able to buy, and I planned how I would go and see her, and perhaps she would live in a gold house, and have little cups of gold that I could drink out of, and buy big French dolls that could talk, and that they would wear gold necklaces and rings, and real watches that would tell the time just as correctly as my father's watch did.

That was a good many years ago, before the railroad was built across the continent, and when people came to California from the East in caravans with ox teams, and it took long months to make the journey.

Mehitable's brother was gone a year and a half, perhaps. For a long time they did not hear anything from him, but at last they had a letter, in which he wrote that he had reached the gold diggings, and how they had to live in tents or in rude shanties. He said, too, that he had not seen a woman or a little child since he reached there. He had not heard the sound of a church bell, but he had seen lots of Indians and rough men at the mines. They played cards at night and drank whisky, and sometimes they gambled. The very day he wrote one or two men had been killed in a drunken fight, and another man had stolen all of the gold that his partner had, and made off with it. He said that just as soon as the loss was discovered four men set off on his trail, and traveled all night, and overtook him in the morning, and that they took him and hung him to the limb of a tree, and left him there, after they had emptied his pockets of the gold that he had stolen.

Mehitable told me all about what he had written, and how he was digging gold, and kept a little sack of it hidden under the cabin floor. His partner had a hiding-place for his built in between the logs of the cabin and the chimney. They had a large dog, which they left in the cabin through the day to guard their treasure.

Once a big miner, whom they called Giant Bill, he had such a huge frame and great brawny arms, went to the cabin while they were away. The dog sprang at him as he sought to enter the door, and seized him by the throat, and tore his flesh and mangled him terribly before he could get away. Then he went and got his gun and would have shot the dog, but he was so weak from loss of blood that he fainted before he could do so, and fell and injured his arm. He had to get out from the camp after that, for the miners used to take the law in their own hands and punish the criminals who came among them to rob and steal.

I did not quite like the picture of the life that he sent, yet still I looked upon him as a great hero, who would return by and by from that wonderful far-off land of gold and bring back with him such treasures as I had never seen.

Well, we watched a long time, and Mehitable showed me one day a little chunk of yellow gold that he had sent out, and told me that her sister had one a great deal bigger. I looked at it and turned it over, and wondered if the rocks in California were all of gold, or whether they dug the gold out of the earth in pieces like that, as you would dig potatoes.

Mehitable could not tell me anything about how it was done. She only thought about getting the gold and the things she could buy with it.

In a year and a half he came back. I was playing with my doll one warm summer morning, when a neighbor came in and said that he had returned. I threw dolly down in a hurry, seized my white sunbonnet and ran up the street to his home. I expected to see gold lying all about the floor in piles. I thought perhaps he would say, "Come here, little girl, and help yourself. Take just as much as you wish, for I have got a plenty of it, and you can take it and buy yourself some fine dolls and picture books, and that piano you were wanting when I went away."

I was almost out of breath when I went in. He said: "Hullo! if here isn't my little girl, looking just as she did when I went away." Then he took me for a few moments on his knee. That rather pleased me, for I thought he was such a hero. But I felt more than half afraid of him. He looked rough and sunburnt. His clothes were travel-worn and dusty, and his face was covered with heavy whiskers. I was not more than half sure that it was he, after all. Then I looked about and I did not see any gold, and what was worse than all that, he did not bring any, scarcely. He had been sick, and spent all of his "pile," and had enough left to get back to his old home, and buy up among New Hampshire. Mehitable had just one gold dollar, which he stairs to see, and then she showed me a small handful of gold-dust that he had brought her sister, and a few lovely bits of rock with shining flakes in them, and some shells, and a few wonderfully-colored butterflies that he had caught and fastened upon pins. And she told me what a wonderful country California was, with the great mountains and big trees, and summers in which it never rained, and with winters in which the grass grew green and all the ground was covered with flowers. She said the sea lay along one side of it, and her brother had sailed on it when it was as still as a lake. Then I thought how I should like to go there and live under such bright skies where there was no winter. But I thought it was so far off I never should get there, for I had asked Mehitable's brother if he thought I could go there in my father's carriage. But he had said "No, it is too far, and it would not be safe for your papa to go alone with you, because you might be killed by the Indians, or die of thirst."

"But you would go with papa and show us the way, wouldn't you, if papa would pay you?" I said.

"I couldn't go back," he replied, "but you wait until you grow up and then you shall go."

And I did.

My little friends have not been writing me many letters of late. I hope when vacation comes they will not forget me. But here comes one nice little letter, which you will be glad to read:

BOYLE HEIGHTS, June 7, 1887.—Dear E. A. O.: I am a little girl 8 years old, and I live on Boyle Heights. I go to school. Miss Frater is my teacher. My mamma read to me how you went after strawberries, and how your dog killed the snake. I am glad it did not bite you. We take THE TIMES, and mamma reads the Little Boys and Girls' letters to us. I have three sisters and one brother. Good-bye. I have a pet hen and some flowers.

MABEL EVA SUTTON.

I thank you, Mabel, for your letter and I hope you will write again. I am glad that you like the Boys and Girls' column. I am always pleased to know that my children enjoy it. They can help me very much to make it interesting.

DOUBLE-ACTING, CONTINUOUS,

HAY, STRAW, & WOOL PRESS

READ THE FOLLOWING:

EL CAJON, San Diego Co., Cal., Aug. 1, 1885.

Whitman Agricultural Co., St. Louis, Mo.—GENTLEMEN: We have pressed 400 tons with our "Improved Whitman's Hay Press" this season, in 18x22 press, in about two months' running. We have pressed from eight to fourteen tons a day in grass hay; from eight to ten tons a day with cane. We have pressed in grain hay eight tons in six hours, just to see what the press would do. In grain hay the bales run from 180 to 240 pounds. We have pressed 180 pounds with ten feeds, which the Dederick press cannot do, because their feed-box is not so large as ours. The bales made by our Whitman press are much smoother and more sightly than bales made by the Dederick press. We have pressed twenty bales an hour, averaging 150 pounds to the bale, in wild oats hay. We pressed hay this year upon the same ranch where the Dederick Over Circle press baled last year. Their bales weighed 75 to 125 pounds; ours bales weighed 125 to 150 pounds. In testimony that the foregoing statement is true, the undersigned grew running the "Whitman Improved Perpetual Hay Press" belonging to Greer Bros., El Cajon, San Diego county, Cal., have hereunto set our hands and seals the day and date first above written. BURTON MOUND,

A Seaside Hotel Resort at Santa Barbara.

IN SEEKING FOR A PLACE TO erect a large hotel to accommodate tourists and other guests, perhaps none can be found combining more attractions than the "Burton Mound." Situated at the foot of the long, gentle slope on which the city of Santa Barbara lies, the 23-acre tract called "Seaside Hotel Property" has the advantage of a mound, which comprises about three acres, rising above the surrounding lands to the height of twenty feet. This mound rises gradually, and is sufficiently level on top to admit of large buildings, with cottages surrounding. While in the city, it seems in the country. It is one tier of blocks from the busiest street and wharf, and runs down to tidewater, with a wide, smooth beach in front. No miasmatic swamps are near. The temperature is warm in winter and cool in summer. Temperature of ocean water varies but eight degrees in the whole year. Ocean bathing is practiced by many the whole year round. It holds in view the ocean, mountains, foothills, islands and beautiful valleys of Carpinteria and Montecito. The Old Mission Church is seen in the northwest, and the beautiful grounds and mansion of Mr. Dibblee on the high lands adjacent.

A spring of sulphur water bubbles up on one side of the mound, and another in which iron predominates springs from the other side, so that baths of these two, and of the ocean water as well, and baths of pure, cold, soft water may be had at trifling expense.

☞ This choice and desirable site for a seaside hotel is for sale. Inquiries may be made in person or by letter of any of the following stockholders or directors:

DR. J. B. SHAW,
MILO SAWYER,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF SANTA BARBARA.
THOMAS B. DIBBLEE,
BENJAMIN BURTON,
FRISSIUS & HERNETER,
ESTATE OF COL. W. W. HOLLISTER,
Directors of Seaside Hotel Association of Santa Barbara.

BEAUTIFUL BURTON MOUND!

VERNONDALE!

☞ This place is situated four and one-half miles southeast of Los Angeles and about one mile from city limits. It is surrounded by attractive vineyards and orchards. Few towns in Southern California have more than one railroad, while Vernondale has the great advantage of three, while the building of the Central-avenue street-car line to Los Angeles seems assured. Church, parsonage, large schoolhouse, public hall and stores already built. Sale of lots begin

HYDE PARK!

Look where you will in the vicinity of the city of Los Angeles, in search either of lots or acre property, for charming homes, and the best judgments will be convinced at a glance as to the difficulty of finding a location for a town so beautiful, such pure and bracing air, and smooth, rich lands as characterizes Hyde Park. This splendid townsite is located on the line of the California Central, of the A., T. & S. F. system, which is to connect Los Angeles with the new harbor at La Ballona, and is distant 7½ miles from the center of the city; a midway town between the city and the harbor. Trains are to be running through the tract by July next, when great business activity all along the line will be the order of the day. Liberal-sized lots, 60x189 feet, fronting on sixty-foot avenues, are offered and being taken rapidly at $125 each; $40 cash, balance $10 per month, without interest. This price includes water piped to each lot and streets graded. Such terms give the present purchasers a good opportunity to make money in the rising values that must follow the effects of the harbor and railroad developments. Particularly desirable are the 5 and 10 acre villa lots surrounding the town. Conveyances leave the office at 1:30 p.m., to show parties the beautiful property.

THE DESIRABLENESS OF THE BROAD VERANDA.

The Housewife's Haven of Rest—Bird Song and Flowers—Nature Wraps You in Her Calm—A Beulah Land—Hours Out of Doors.

In the rare and delicious climate of California the days may be spent very largely out of doors. Even the housewife may have many hours on the broad veranda if she has a corner for her work-table and her books. Here the necessary patching and darning may be done, where fragrant breezes are blowing, and where the landscape stretches out like a picture before the eyes—a picture for the thoughts to rest upon and forget the petty cares and annoyances that are so apt to disturb one within doors. The children may get their lessons here, too, with the sound of bird song in their ears, and the soft stirring of the leaves soothing their senses. Here also should be the hammock hung beneath the vines that screen you from passers-by. Or, if you prefer, swing it from the trunks of some of the grand trees that yield such a pleasant rain of shadows, and here, when the days are hot and you are ready for rest, you can lie and lounge to your heart's content. You can bring into the limits of your little everyday life the infinite sky, the green hills and the guardian mountains. You will not feel cramped as you would in your own room, but you will feel yourself a part of the boundless universe, and something of its largeness will creep into your soul.

Narrow boundaries are not good for us, especially if within them is nothing but a dull routine of duties which we often find irksome. Our largest-souled men are those who are country born; about whom has been the infinite sweep of distance and the impressive grandeur of the hills. Unconsciously they have absorbed somewhat of all this vastness. The touch of Nature has been upon them, breathing of freedom and of purity.

So the tired mother breathes in something of her fullness, though she may be half blind to her anointing presence. She will, at least, forget the heat of the kitchen as she lies removed from the wearying details of its duties, with bits of blue sky shining in upon her through parted leaves, as if heaven were just over her head.

To be cradled with nature keeps us young, and I would bring just as much of my daily work out upon the veranda as possible. If dinner comes with you at midday, breakfast and supper may be taken upon the veranda if it is as wide as it ought to be. When I build, as I hope to by and by, I shall not be content with a veranda less than twelve feet wide. That to me will be the best part of my home. There, in the freshness of the morning, shall my table be set, and the wine of a fragrant atmosphere be drunk. There will I watch the sunsets fade, and sit in the twilight with those whom I love about me. It shall be my study and my summer parlor, my sewing-room and my room for rest.

I wish that tired housekeepers would try more of this out-of-door life, this pleasant border spot lying like a Beulah-land beside the great shining outside world. I have talked of the veranda before, but I do not think that my readers quite realize all that it may be made to hold for them. If you are tired and discouraged with your many cares, the veranda will be a place of refuge for you. A bird song will make you forget that your pies were scorched in baking, and a flower lifting up its timid face and breathing fragrance will crowd out the recollection of coal smoke and the odor of the fat which was spilled upon the hot stove. Baby Josie, too, will cease her fretting and nestle in your arms until she falls asleep, and mischievous Johnnie will strike his chubby fists into the soft earth outside instead of poking them into your dough or mincemeat. All these little vexations refuse to come out with you, and life seems less tiresome than it does indoors, because nature wraps you in her calm and soothes you with the restfulness of her ways.

The veranda should be an adjunct of this climate. It is almost worth more than the house for comfort and for healthfulness. It should be the quiet haven of the housekeeper, where she could breathe health into her lungs, strength into her tired frame, and the spirit of restfulness into her life.

NOTES.

Walnut Cake.—This is a simple cake, and requires but a few moments for preparing it. Materials are as follows: One and one-half teacupfuls sugar, two-thirds cup butter, one cup sweet milk, three cups flour, three small teaspoonfuls baking powder, three eggs, teacupful walnut meats, and flavoring to taste. Beat the sugar and butter to a cream, add the eggs, well beaten, the milk and flavoring, and, lastly, the flour, in which the baking powder has been well mixed by sifting. Bake in square tins. Make a stiff frosting for the top, mark it off into small squares, and lay a nut meat on each square. This makes a very nice cake without nuts, but they improve its appearance.

Fancies in Curtains.—The short "china" silk or muslin curtains for windows are often tied back with colored-silk handkerchiefs, in place of ribbon. Japanese fans, fully spread out, are thrust into the handkerchiefs, on the room side of the curtains.

To Clean Marble.—Take two parts of common soda, one part of pummice-stone and one part of finely-powdered chalk; sift it through a fine sieve, and mix it with water: then rub it well all over the marble, and the stains will be removed; rub the marble over with salt and water.

Ginger Pudding.—One-half cup of molasses, two-thirds of a cup of butter, one cup of brown sugar, two cups of flour, four eggs, one small teaspoonful of ginger, one of cinnamon and one of cloves. Bake in layers, and put together with jelly and icing. Serve with sauce and cream.

Knife Basket.—The basket, which is divided into two parts, is lined throughout with green felt, and has a layer of cork or excelsior on the bottom. A band of the same color of felt, scolloped and buttonholed with yellow filoselle, is draped around the outside. The handle is wound with crochet cord.

Screen for Fireplace.—A handsome screen may be made by placing a large-size Japanese fan, ornamented at the corners and handle with large silk tassels in the center of a bamboo frame; a more elaborate style is to substitute a piece of hand-painted satin fixed to a fan-shaped piece of cardboard and trimmed with tassels.

To Wash Silver.—Use boiling water, which will make it much brighter than polishing in other ways. Glass, on the contrary, only requires warm water in which to rinse it, drying upward, on a doubled cloth, then dried with a very clean glass cloth.

Potato Lemon Pudding.—Three ounces of potatoes, the grated rind and juice of two fine lemons, three ounces of white sugar, two ounces of butter; grate off the lemon-peel with lumps of sugar, beat them and add to the other ingredients; boil the potatoes and peel them, mixing all together with the lemon-juice and two beaten eggs; bake it slightly.

How to Make Yeast.—Pare four good-sized potatoes and let them lie in cold water for half an hour. Put one quart of boiling water in a saucepan. Grate the potatoes quickly and stir them into the boiling water; stir over the fire for five minutes, then take from the fire, add a half-cupful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of salt, turn into a stone jar or bowl, and let stand until lukewarm. Then add one cupful of good yeast, cover and let it stand for three or four hours. Stir it down every time it comes to the top of the vessel; then put it into a jar or large bottle, something you can cover tightly, and stand it in a cool place, but not freeze it. It will keep two weeks. Save one cupful of this yeast to start with next time. This is the simplest and best yeast that can be made.

Strawberry Shortcake.—Sift together a poundof flour, an even teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder or a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, with a half teaspoonful of soda; add a quarter of a pound of butter, chopping it into the flour with a knife; butter or flour two large cake tins or pie plates. Have your oven hot. Quickly stir in with the flour about a pint of milk, or enough to make a soft dough. Divide in two portions; put a flat cake in each tin. Bake about twenty minutes. If they begin to burn too soon cover them with oiled paper (lard or butter for this), and only remove it when they are nearly done to brown. Tear the cakes apart with a fork, spread a second quarter of a pound of butter on them while they are warm enough to melt it. Lay the berries over this, dust plentifully with powdered sugar, and lay the two slices together. Whipped cream or uncooked icing mixture may be substituted for the butter upon the hot slice of cake as foundation for the berries.

THE CONTRACT FOR WATER MAINS AWARDED—SEWER BIDS.

RIVERSIDE, June 15.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Yesterday the Riverside Improvement Company awarded the contract for the construction of the Riverside water mains and lateral piping over the Roubidoux tract to Lacy & Hooker, of Los Angeles. The job is to cost $100,000 and to be completed by December 1st. This is a most gratifying announcement to our people, who will now have pure artesian water under 140 feet pressure sufficient for domestic and fire purposes for a city of 25,000, beside enough to use for irrigation in the more thickly-settled portion.

The bids opened by the city trustees on Tuesday for lateral sewers in Sewer District No. 1 were all rejected, for the reason that they were not properly drawn. New bids are advertised for, to be opened next Tuesday afternoon.

In a recent letter I alluded to the fact that four new churches were to erect new places of worship, beside the one just dedicated. It seems the "returns were not all in" when I wrote, for the society of United Brethren have purchased a lot and threaten still another church building for Riverside within a year.

The mercury at 93° yesterday indicates that our remarkably cool spring is at an end, and that summer will shortly invite trips to shore and mountain.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

That Garbage Again.

A PROTEST AGAINST THE OBNOXIOUS BARRELS AND BOXES.

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Will you please call the attention of the city authorities to the abominable practice in vogue here of the disposal of refuse from private residences and other buildings. These barrels and boxes, containing the filth of the kitchen, are placed upon the sidewalk, and are permitted there to remain frequently as late as 11 a.m. They are emptied into the scavenger's cart, to the great disgust of passers-by upon the streets. This practice ought to be abolished at once. All such removals should be made at night, say between the hours of 10 p.m. and 4 a.m. The refuse along the business streets should be handled at the same time. The streets are then clear of teams, and present no obstacle to the proper and thorough performance of the work.

Another matter from which the people demand relief is the dust. The present contractor for street-sprinkling should be ousted, and the contract awarded to some one who will earn the money paid him.

A SUFFERER.

Special Announcement.

The first advance in the price of Ivanhoe lots was made June 1st, as per advertisement for several months. For various good reasons, some of the lots are left at the original prices for another month; but most of them have been advanced 30 to 50 per cent. Even at advanced prices it is the best property offered for the money anywhere around Los Angeles, and buyers should choose their lots before the next advance, which will be made in July. The sale of lots in May was larger than in any previous month, and the end of June will find most of the lots sold. All who see Ivanhoe agree that it is the best property for the least money that can be found. The water system and the dummy road will both be ready by July, and many houses will be built in the next two months. If you want a first-class, large lot, for a small sum of money, come at once. OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
LOS ANGELES, Saturday, June 18.

There were no changes in quotations at the Produce Exchange today.

The Wheat market seems to have about recovered from the unsettled condition brought about by the break-up of the Chicago corner.

The Coffee market closes the week with another heavy decline in prices. A dispatch from New York says:

"There was another sharp decline at the Coffee Exchange this morning, and for a while it looked as if a repetition of yesterday's big drop was imminent. July Coffee declined during the first hour, but after that the market rallied, and a better feeling prevailed. Sales up to 11:30 o'clock were 101,750 bags."

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Money on call, easy at 4½@5; closed offered, 6.

Prime mercantile paper, 5@6.

Sterling exchange, dull and steady at 4.83½ for 60 days; 4.84¾ for demand.

Government bonds dull and steady.

Trading in stocks was dull, as usual on half holiday. The market was steady, very little disposition to trade being shown even by professionals. London bought a few stocks in the early dealings and there was some purchasing after the issue of a bank statement upon an unexpectedly favorable showing. Reading was the great feature of the day, being the only stock showing any activity whatever, and upon free buying, both for foreign and domestic account, it was remarkably strong, making a material net advance for the day. St. Paul and Duluth made another quick advance. Pacific Mail displayed considerable animation and shared in the improvement and closed quiet and firm.

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

SEASON GROWING WARMER AND VERY QUIET.

...y Little to Chronicle During the ...Week—Some Quiet Social Dances and Home Parties—Society Personals.

The week just ended has been an unusually quiet one in social circles, owing to the absence of real summer weather and the departure of the happy leisure class to the beaches and mountains.

THE CHILDREN'S LAWN PARTY.

On Tuesday last Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Childs gave a delightful outdoor party to their friends. The invitations included nearly everybody "in the swim" of Los Angeles society circles, and everybody went, well knowing the pleasure in store for them. Few are so fortunate as to be able to offer their friends a breezy dancing-floor, surrounded by velvet turf and canopied with shady branches. The hours of the reception—3 to 8—included the best hours of a summer afternoon, and fled only too speedily for the guests.

LARGE HOME PARTRY.

Invitations are out for a large party at the house of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Ellis, on Ellis avenue, for the coming Thursday evening. Cards have been sent to nearly 300 friends of the hosts.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB.

The Woman's Club held an unusually brisk and enjoyable meeting yesterday afternoon. An excellent paper was read on "The Educationla Duties of Parents" by a Los Angeles teacher. A committee from the W. C. T. U. then introduced the subject of "The Women Clerks in Stores," and asked the coöperation of the club in any reasonable action toward having them provided with seats in the stores, and being allowed to sit when at leisure. The club unanimously agreed to work with them toward this good and eminently humane object.

This being the day set by the absent president, Mrs. Severance, for an informal Jubilee celebration, the vice-president, Mrs. Wills read a brief, but pointed paper on "Queen Victoria." The paper led to a brisk discussion of the Queen as sovereign and woman, opinions favorable and otherwise being elicited from all the members.

The next meeting will be the last for the summer, and will be devoted to short sketches of obscure or minor writers by members of the literary committee, and possibly a reading by the sister of E. P. Roe from her brother's writings.

DANCING PARTY.

A charming little dancing party was given by Mrs. M. C. Graves, of Eleventh street, last Wednesday night, in honor of a young friend. Mrs. Stoneman and daughter, Mr. O. W. Childs and family, Miss Mary Banning, Mr. Johnson, Mr. J. Brown, Miss Dillman and Mr. and Miss Wagner were among the guests.

DANCING AND "MUSCLE-READING."

On Friday night a gay but informal little company were gathered at the pleasant home of Mrs. Bangs, of Pasadena. The hostess was aided and abetted in her hospitable intents by Miss Fowler. The party was in honor of C. B. Mudge, of this city, and dancing and "muscle-reading" were the order of the night.

COMING EVENTS.

This week promises to be a gay one. There will be Mrs. C. J. Ellis's large party, the Jubilee ball, one or two lunch parties, and several small and informal out-of-town parties, chaperoned by Los Angeles matrons.

SOCIETY PERSONALS.

Mrs. C. A. Sumner has been indefatigable in her efforts to make the coming Jubilee ball a social and financial success. She reports 250 tickets disposed of by the middle of the week.

Lieut. Dapray is at Santa Monica, et ego in Arcadia.

J. Downey Harvey, as Grand Panjandrum of the coming procession on the Glorious Fourth, has enlisted a body of our "most bowling swells" as aides-de-camp. The procession is therefore expected to awaken wild patriotism in the entire feminine contingent of Los Angeles.

THAT CAPTAIN.

"The Times" Puts Officers on His Track.

The arrest and escape of Capt. Porter, of the sloop Lou, is simply another link in the chain of evidence going to prove that San Diego is a hotbed of smugglers, as was stated exclusively in THE TIMES, just previous to the investigation made by the United States District Attorney and a TIMES reporter, a few weeks ago. It will be remembered by the readers of THE TIMES that a mysterious sea captain, who seemed to be hand-and-glove with the high and the low of the city of Bayneclimate, was described in these columns during the investigation. The sea captain, who had been carrying things with a high hand for a week or ten days before Brooks arrived in San Diego, lit out the morning after Moll's arrest. The customs officers did not think anything of the matter, as they were of the opinion that he simply owned a pleasure yacht; and they did not believe that he could be in the smuggling business, and were very doubtful even after THE TIMES had branded the man as a smuggler. But they kept a lookout for him, and the next time he put into port they did not lose sight of his captainship. He was too sharp for them, however, for his papers were all straight, and they began to look upon him as an honest man, until one fine morning when he suddenly put to sea without asking their permission. They remembered what THE TIMES had said about his sudden disappearance on Brooks's arrival, and they at once made up their minds to follow Capt. Porter. The steamer Carlos Pacheco was hastily made ready for a cruise, and a few hours after the Lou sailed the Pacheco was in hot pursuit. The Lou was fortunate in having a good breeze, and she showed her heels to the customs officers in good style. For several days it looked as if the bold smuggler was about to escape, but his stiff breeze eased off, and 400 miles below San Diego the custom-house officers succeeded in running him down. He was captured and a large cargo of contraband goods was on his little pleasure (?) yacht. The captain was accompanied by but one assistant, and both of them were taken on board of the Pacheco and their goods were confiscated. Now comes the strange part of this story. The Pacheco took the sloop in tow and started for San Diego, but she had only gone a short distance when she found that she could not face a big storm which had suddenly come up, so she put into a little bay on the coast of Lower California, and all hands prepared to spend the night. During the night Capt. Porter, who had not been locked up, made his way to his own vessel and succeeded in making good his escape. The revenue officers did not miss the Lou until she was well out to sea, and for some reason which has not been explained, they did not give chase, but were willing to return home with the confiscated goods. Capt. Porter is probably one of the ring-leaders of the smuggler gang, and the chances are that if he had been brought to San Diego he would have squealed on his pals.

Benedict's Luck.

A drunk was doing all in his power to clean out a saloon on the corner of Third and Spring streets last night, when Patrolman Benedict attempted to arrest him. The fellow jumped the officer and hit him a terrific blow on the side of the head. Benedict stayed with him, however, and succeeded in getting him to the County Jail.

Street-Brawlers.

A. Scott and L. Woods were having a rough-and-tumble fight on the corner of First and Alameda streets yesterday afternoon, when Officer Jackson put in an appearance and took them under his protecting arm. They were taken to the City Prison, and will explain their difficulties to Justice Austin tomorrow morning.

The mind of the first suicide was removed from the crematory yesterday morning.

There is an undelivered message for M. E. McGraw at the Western Union Telegraph office.

Long Beach Booming.

The Long Beach Land and Water Company, four months ago, issued $35,000 worth of bonds. Since then they have sold enough land to pay off the bonds before the first six months' interest falls due.

Another Big Firm.

Heywood Bros. & Co., a big rattan furniture firm of Boston and San Francisco, is placing a branch establishment in Woodhead's building, corner of College and Upper Main streets.

LUCKY MAN?

THIS MEANS YOU.

Here is a Little Speculation that will discount anything in the Market.

Eighty-five acres of choice land, suitable for the successful growing of strawberries of the finest kind, as well as any small fruit or vegetables, in the town of Compton, less than one-half mile from the railroad depot, has been subdivided into sixteen tracts, of which fifteen contain five acres each and one ten acres; 65 acres of it in alfalfa. One of the five-acre tracts has a $2500 house, $500 barn, and the finest artesian well in the land, and is easily worth $4500.

Any one of the five-acre tracts can be so planted as to support any man and his family, and do it well.

These sixteen tracts will be distributed among the sixteen lucky purchasers of the sixteen tickets, now for sale.

Every purchaser gets more than the worth of his money, and, besides, there are

CATARRH!

THROAT DISEASES, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA,

CONSUMPTION,

Together with diseases of the EYE, EAR AND HEART,

Successfully treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D., M. C. P. S. O.,

No. 275 North Main Street,

A few doors south of the new postoffice, Los Angeles, Cal.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases treated by

DR. WILLIAMS,

With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and oet he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharnyx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but if impossible to do so can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address,

The Gem of All Gems.

The lots in this beautiful tract will be on sale at the office of

BEN. E. WARD : : : : : SOLE AGENT

For the City of Los Angeles.

In offering this property we offer you good, honest investment, NEAR HOME, at 30 miles from Los Angeles prices. All we ask of you is to visit this charming suburb of Los Angeles, as we are confident you will see in GLENDALE the first healthy rival PASADENA has ever encountered.

ONLY 6½ MILES FROM THE COURTHOUSE. $300 for inside lots and $350 and $400 for corners. THESE LOTS, remember, are not COBBLEIZED. We don't guarantee stones enough on every lot to build a ten-foot wall around the lot, but give you fine soil, lots of pure water, a charming climate, with very little "climb it" to get there.

TERMS—One-third cash, one-third in six and twelve or nine and eighteen months.

The above prices will only hold until further notice.

WE GUARANTEE A RAILROAD to the heart of this, the coming "OAKLAND" of Los Angeles county. Compare the prices and distance of this property and decide for yourself.
